

his discretion, and any other justice of the peace may be selected by the governor to perform the said duties at said station house.

1876, ch. 28.

619. Each justice of the peace selected to sit at a station house in the city of Baltimore shall receive the sum of one hundred and seventy-five dollars per month, or a proportionable part thereof, so long as he shall continue to act at a station house in said city, under the selection of the governor; which sum of money shall be paid to him by the register of the city of Baltimore, at the end of each month of his said service, or a proportionable part thereof, at the end of any portion of a month at which the service of such justice of the peace at said station house may terminate, upon the certificate of the board of police commissioners of Baltimore city, that such service has been rendered under the appointment of the governor as aforesaid; and no justice of the peace selected for a station house shall be permitted to charge any fee, or receive any gratuity for granting any release, or for the performance of any duty required by law.

620. If any justice of the peace who has been selected as aforesaid to sit at any station house in the city of Baltimore is unable, by reason of sickness or other unavoidable cause, to attend to his duty at said station house, or fails to attend at said station house, at any time, when his presence is there required, it shall be the duty of the board of police commissioners of Baltimore city to require another justice of the peace to perform the duties at said station house, of the said justice of the peace so sick or absent; and it shall be the duty of the justice of the peace so required to perform said duties at said station house, to perform the same so long as may be necessary, or until the governor shall select another justice to perform said duties; the justice of the peace so required to perform said duties at said station house, by the said board of police commissioners, in place of the justice selected by the governor, shall receive six dollars per day for every day he shall actually serve at such station house; which pay shall be deducted from the pay provided to be paid to the justice selected to sit at such station house and failing to attend; pro-
